

Male Junior Athlete of the Year: Jeramie Anderson

The award for 2008 Saskatchewan Male Junior Triathlete of the Year is: Jeramie Anderson. Jeramie comes from a soccer background. 2008 was the first year that Jeramie more consistently trained for triathlon. He has come a long way from being pulled out of a very cold lake at Man/Sask in riding Mountain as a 12/13 yr. old ...to swimming in a National Junior Elite competition in 2008. A very athletic individual, Jeramie will continue to progress in this sport as he grows and matures as an athlete. In 2008, Jeramie competed in Icebreaker, Spin Off Spadina, Pinawa, and Kelowna. He also competed in the Sask summer games winning the Jr. category. He has currently been talent identified for the 2009 Canada summer games. Jeramie trains with the Saskatoon Triathlon club competitive youth/Jr. program. Congratulations Jeramie.
